Poll Watchers Arrested, One Fights Back

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Vote officials in Jackson County had two women who said they were poll watchers for Mrs. Virginia Johnson arrested Tuesday for not leaving the polling places.

Mrs. Elton Gilliam of the Island community and her sister, Mrs. James Page of Auvergne, were arrested but released after posting $50 bail.

John P. Keel, chairman of the Jackson County Democratic Committee, swore out the complaint against Mrs. Gilliam, charging her with violation of state election laws by attempting to enter the polling place while ballots were being cast.

The complaint against Mrs. Page was filed by Troy Taylor, an election official at the Ingleside precinct. He charged she was in violation of the state's election laws, threatened a poll official and used obscene language.

Peace Talks Policy Shift Speculated

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam went into the fourth month of their search for peace in Vietnam today as tightly deadlocked as ever over the issue of ending U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

There has been widespread speculation that either Hanoi or Washington might make some policy shift, but concrete evidence of any major progress in the talks is lacking.

Harriman accused North Vietnam of taking a "completely sterile" line in the Paris peace talks while Communist terrorists in South Vietnam killed thousands of people "in cold blood."

Harriman said: "He hoped that the return from Hanoi of Le Duc Tho, a member of the Communist party Politburo, 'will be useful.' This reflected U.S. speculation that Tho, who spent six weeks in Hanoi, may have brought some new instructions.

The American envoy told newsmen that while there may have been a decline in combat action in South Vietnam, Viet Cong terrorists have killed 8,000 civilians since the first of this year, wounded 20,000 others and kidnapped 6,000.

"That doesn't mean those who have been caught in the war," he said, "But those who have been killed in cold blood. . . These terrorist actions don't get much publicity, but terrorism is one of the facts of life in South Vietnam."

"This cruel, ruthless terrorist action of the Viet Cong still continues with no purpose except to terrorize people into giving in to their rule."

His other point of attack in today's meeting, he said, was that "the North Vietnamese delegation has been completely sterile in its attitude. It's got one phrase which it repeats."

He apparently referred to North Vietnam's demand at every session since the talks opened May 13 that the United States stop all attacks on North Vietnam before any other peace-making issues can be discussed.

Space Leaders, Scientists to Convene

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
VIENNA (AP) — Space leaders and scientists from 67 nations convene today to begin two weeks of discussion on how best to apply the practical benefits of space technology to the social and economic advancement of mankind.

The two major space powers, the United States and the Soviet Union, will dominate the meeting, the first space conference ever held by the United Nations. U.N. committees have been preparing for it for two years.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, who is expected to address the conference later, described the effort in a statement as a major step in bridging the gap between space powers and other nations.

He expressed hope that the meeting would not only explain the practical benefits of space exploration, but also would ultimately result in joint practical ventures that would bring these benefits to all nations and thereby help to alleviate some of mankind's most pressing economic and social problems.

Austrian Foreign Minister Kurt Waldheim, president of the conference, said discussions "will relate to the use of communications satellites for development, education and cultural purposes, the use of meteorological satellites in day-to-day weather forecasting, the application of satellites to surveys of natural resources and other matters of direct concern to all

LBJ May Have to Cut Another $1 Billion

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, who agreed reluctantly to a $6-billion cut in federal spending to get his income tax increase, now faces the probability of having to cut an additional $1 billion.

Johnson, spending a long working holiday at his hill country ranch, had press secretary George Christian outline publicly on Tuesday the budget-cutting problems faced by the White House.

This followed a four-hour ranch conference Johnson had with Budget Director Charles J. Zwick.

As sketched by Christian, this is the situation facing the administration: When Congress fixed a spending ceiling of $180.1 billion for a broad range of federal programs—except the Vietnam war and some others—it looked as if the ceiling could be met by chopping $6 billion from planned outlays in the fiscal year that began July 1.

Since then, however, estimated spending for farm-price supports has increased by $700 million and it now appears that costs of public assistance and Medicaid may top the original projection by $300 million.

Those increases totaling $1 billion must be offset by cuts elsewhere in the budget.

Christian, quoting Zwick, said it seems likely that Congress itself will specify $3 billion in spending reductions. That leaves $4 billion of economy moves to be pinpointed by the administration.

The President, in an action announced Tuesday, approved significant new cutbacks in U.S. payrolls abroad. This is not a direct economy move, since many workers simply will be transferred to stateside jobs. But it is intended to help ease the balance of payments deficit which was one of the chief goals of Johnson's 10 per cent income surtax.

By mid-1969, under the Johnson plan, enough overseas jobs will be eliminated to cut spending abroad by $28 million to $32 million.

Compared with Dec. 31, 1967, the number of Americans on federal payrolls abroad will be slashed by 4,083 from 22,884, or 18 per cent. The number of foreign nationals employed will be reduced by 4,274 from 26,337, or 16 per cent. Twenty-one agencies, including the military, will be affected.

Christian had no word Tuesday on when doctors might report their findings after a careful study of X rays made Monday of Johnson's lower intestine.

engaged in the task of development.

Jury Warned Action May Be Invalid

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — The Pulaski County Grand Jury was given the go-ahead Tuesday with its investigation "into the causes and events leading up to" the weekend of disturbances in Little Rock.

The jury was unable to proceed with its investigation after U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley refused to issue an injunction restraining the jury from meeting.

Henley, however, warned that indictments issued by the jury may prove to be invalid, and he set Sept. 4 for a final hearing on the complaint.

A group of 13 Little Rock Negroes sought the injunction, alleging that the jury was unconstitutionally composed and therefore violating the rights of the plaintiffs.

"This court is not inclined to stop the processes in Pulaski County," Henley said at a hearing here. "However, as a matter of warning and comfort, if it affords any to the plaintiffs, the court believes that on the face of it the plaintiffs made a very strong showing of unconstitutionality."

Henley said he based his opinion on an Alabama case in which selection of a petit jury had come under legal attack.

The plaintiffs, represented by James E. Youngdahl, claimed that the grand jury members, selected by the Pulaski County Jury Commissioners failed in three areas to constitute a cross section of the community.

Youngdahl charged that all of the plaintiffs are Negroes between the ages of 21 and 50 and all are employed in capacities other than managerial. He said, however, the grand jury is composed, with one exception, of white persons, most of whom are age 50 or older, most of whom are in managerial positions.

He said the "plaintiffs and the classes they represent are being deprived . . . of their civil and constitutional rights."

The complaint also alleged that the failure of the grand jury to represent a cross section is "the result of a deliberate, systematic exclusion, steeped in custom and practice . . . of individuals excluding the classes represented by the plaintiffs."

Pulaski County Prosecutor Richard Adkisson said the state objected to the filing of the complaint by the plaintiffs "as they are not particularly affected by action of the grand jury."

Adkisson submitted an affidavit from Paul H. Dixon Jr. and J. H. Meyer, two of the three Pulaski County jury commissioners. It stated that the commission had been provided with a "Criss-Cross Directory, a telephone directory, a Little Rock - North Little Rock City directory and jury lists for the past three years" as aids to the commissioners selecting a jury panel.

In announcing his decision, Henley said, "I'd be reluctant, on the basis of this hurried showing today and on the basis of the events — the turmoil in Little Rock 8 which led up to the complaint, to decide temporarily that the Pulaski County Grand Jury is so afflicted with constitutional infirmities that it ought to be stopped forthwith."

France Target of New U.S. Trade Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is rolling out an international trade weapon not used on such a large scale since it was directed at Nazi Germany. The target now—France. The weapon is countervailing duties and it works like this: France provides its manufacturers with subsidies so they can sell their products at lower prices abroad. When the products get to the United States they're hit with the countervailing duty, jacking the prices back up again.

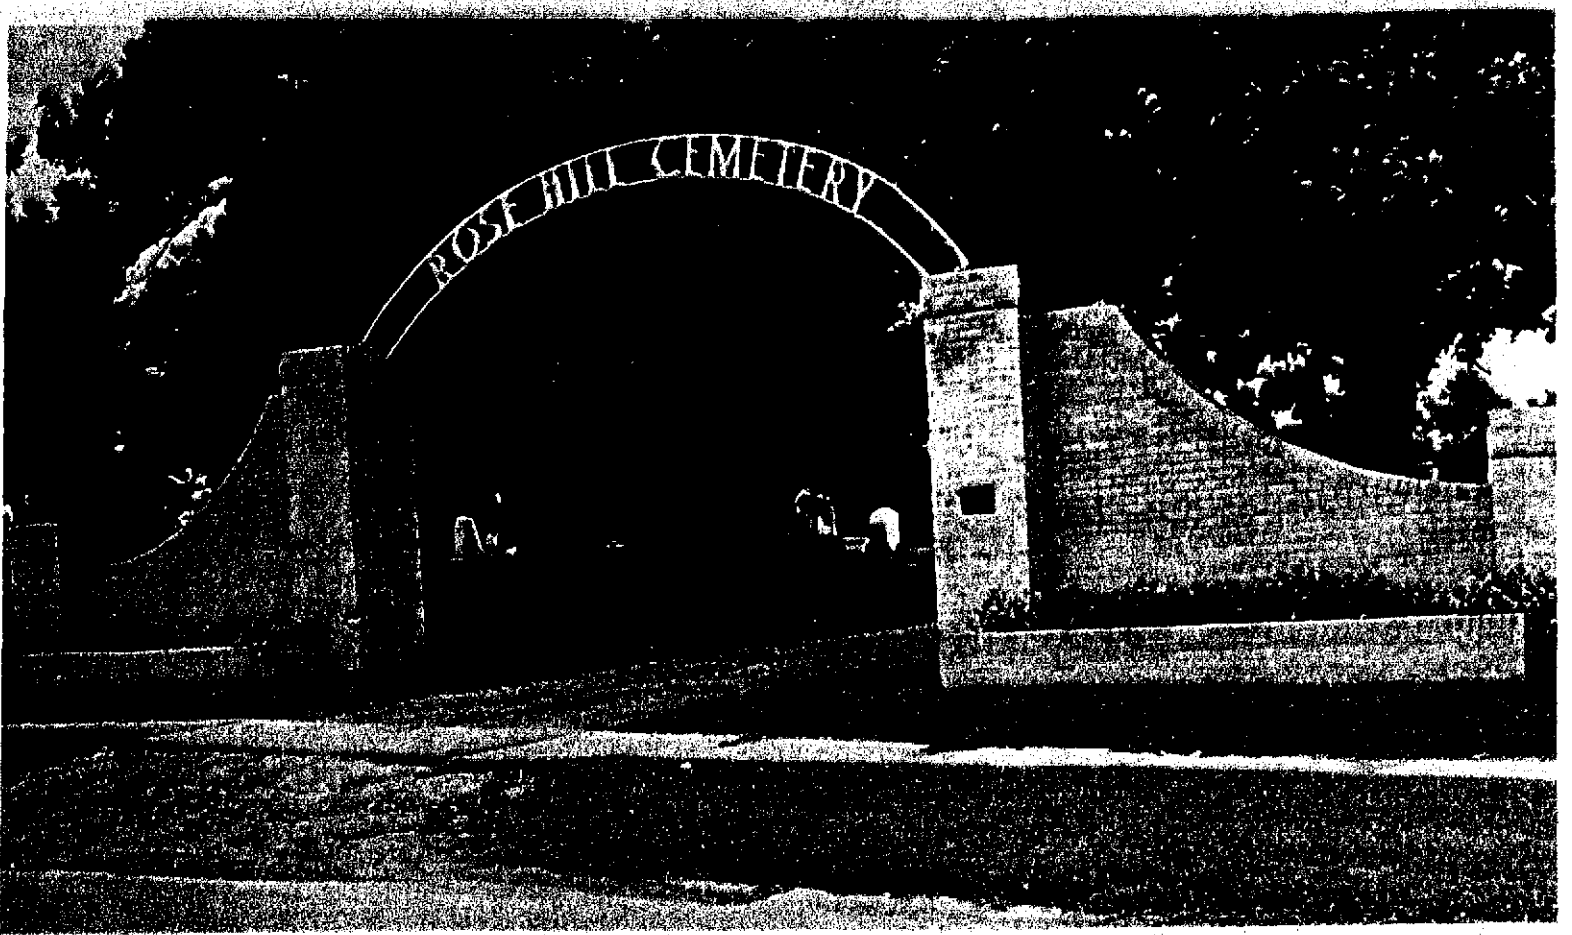

The French subsidy was imposed after workers won pay boosts of 10-15 per cent in May and June strikes.

The subsidy is intended to help groggy French industry back to its feet and ease the shock of suddenly higher prices. It was set last month at 6 per cent of labor costs. After October it is to drop to 3 per cent.

A U.S. Treasury spokesman said Tuesday the countervailing duty will follow a similar timetable, starting off at 2.5 per cent and dropping to 1.25 per cent when the French subsidy is halved.

The subsidy is scheduled to end Jan. 31. If it does, the United States will lift the temporary duty, the Treasury said.

Poison Gas Blamed for Five Deaths

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Hydrogen sulfide, a highly lethal gas that can be produced by decaying organic matter, has been identified as the agent that caused five persons to topple over dead after they peered into the hold of a fishing boat.

Dr. Wallace M. Graves Jr., a Fort Myers pathologist, said Tuesday night the deaths were traced to hydrogen sulfide after autopsies and extensive testing of samples taken from the boat.

The men died Sunday after being exposed to the gas while preparing to unload fish from their boat, the Novelty, at the Protein Product Co. docks at Charlotte Harbour. Authorities said the five men died within a two-minute period.

A sixth man, Lawrence Finley, was revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and is reported recovering.

Authorities said the deaths came within seconds after one of the men, Francis D. Webb, 23, of Peace Dale, R.I., turned on a huge hose used to wash down the hold of the boat. The hose also was used as a vacuum tube to remove the water and the ship's cargo of menhaden and herring.

Graves said his studies had not identified the source of the gas, and Lee County investigator James Loeffler said his office was continuing its attempt to identify the source.

The pathologist said the gas is highly lethal in concentrated form. He refused to speculate on how the gas found on the boat was produced, but said it can be generated by decomposition of organic material.

Graves said the gas in the boat, which remains tied at the company docks, has dissipated. Webb dropped after he turned on the hose to wash down the fish in the hold. Authorities said the other men keeled over as they peered into the hold.

At the time of the discovery of America, most of the native Indians were still in the Stone Age.

Some Rock Tossing in Few Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sporadic rock throwing and firebombing incidents plagued Chicago Heights, Ill., late Tuesday night and early today but elsewhere the nation's cities were generally reported calm.

In Chicago Heights, a suburb of 40,000 groups of Negro youths roamed streets and taunted police. Police arrested 13 after the youths began throwing rocks at officers inspecting for firebombs.

Fourteenth Street, the main artery through the Negro district, was closed for a mile to permit fire trucks to hook up their lines, if that necessity arose, according to police.

It was the fourth night of disturbances in the city with a Negro population of about 8,000. Local police were reinforced for patrol by sheriff's officers and state police.

In Kansas City police said eight firebombings took place between midnight and 4 a.m. today but there were no reported injuries and only one damage report, for $200, had been received.

trouble-free night and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said local authorities believed "we are rapidly returning to normal conditions" after four nights of racial disturbances that began Friday.

The governor lifted a county-wide curfew but teams of National Guardsmen and policemen continued to patrol the streets.

In Los Angeles, there was only an occasional firebomb report in Watts. Black militants prepared to take their case for fewer police patrols to a public hearing.

The only incident reported since early Tuesday was a gasoline bomb which landed harmlessly on the steps of a commercial building and was disarmed by an officer.

Sunday's violence in Watts left 3 Negroes dead, more than 40 persons injured.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is little to choose from in next season's network television schedules for the viewer on the lookout for something new.

Off-beat, and almost daring, then, is the format of a series called "That's Life," which will combine situation comedy and musical comedy.

The series, sold to ABC as an idea and without a pilot program, is the brainchild of Marvin Marx, for the past 17 years on Jackie Gleason's writing staff.

Marx, a comedy writer whose career dates back to the days of radio's Fred Allen show and The Burns and Allen show, has been occupied recently turning Gleason's old "Honeymooners" into musical comedy TV shows for the Great One.

But he insists he has been husbanding the "That's Life" idea for a decade, and thought of it originally as a vehicle for Mike Nichols and Elaine May. The gimmick is simple. The series will start with a boy-meets-girl show, and follow along week-by-week with two principles through the courtship, marriage, first fight, move to suburbia and the arrival of the first child.

Presumably the themes could be extended indefinitely, since they are the most familiar themes for situation comedy. Where "That's Life" will differ from it is in its use of song — three original numbers and three well-known hits of past years per show — and a bit of incidental, plot-moving dancing.

Robert Morse, an established musical comedy performer, will play the husband and a virtual unknown, E. J. (for Edna Jeanne) Peaker, will be the young wife. Emphasis in the show will be on guest stars like Shelley Berman and Sid Caesar, cast in roles that permit them to move logically into their specialties: Berman's cholerical telephone calls or Caesar's mimicry.

"It would be impossible to do a complete, new musical comedy each week on television," said Marx, "but I think that it is perfectly possible to handle it entertainingly each week where you have continuing, identifiable characters and a continuing story line."

How does Jackie Gleason feel about the project?
"Well," said Marx, "He wished me good luck."

If Marx' concept works, it could start a whole new trend in variety shows. If it drops by the wayside, it may be counted as a brave experiment in a year that is notable for sticking close to the tried and true.

SHOCKER NEEDS SHAKING UP

Dear Helen: There is a man in my office who utters a disgusting and extremely objectionable four-letter word whenever we pass each other. I have tried to avoid him, but he goes out of his way to meet me.

He is a war veteran and possible his experiences have disturbed his mind. I don't want to cause him trouble but I don't think I should be constantly confronted with this kind of problem. Should I ignore him or have a talk with the boss?—CONCERNED

Dear Con: Tell him the office is no place for "free speech," and hand him a four-word ultimatum: "Shuddup or get reported!"—H.

Dear Helen: I have always gone to bat for the kids of today, but now I'm not so sure. My husband and I are back from a vacation in Virginia. We had a wonderful time, but we were shocked at what went on in the age 15-20 group. Talk about free love—and everywhere, on the beaches, boardwalk, benches—and not just necking. There were liquor and dope and mixed groups staying the weekend in one cabin. What bothered us was that the police just looked the other way. Perhaps they figured if they kept 'em making love, they wouldn't riot.

Where and what are parents who allow their kids to go off like this?—A SHOCKED MOTHER

Dear Shocked: ... They're probably off on a wild weekend of their own and glad to get the kids out of their hair. But please remember: All teens don't orgy it up, nor are they all on non-stop love-ins. Don't judge everyone by the group who wants you to.—H.

Dear Helen: Recently I read in your column a letter from a woman who thought a doctor's nurse is just a spy for his wife. You replied that the nurse acts as a protective shield, against lovesick females.

Helen, I think you were a little too one-sided. You make it sound as if the doctor is a god who can do no wrong, and that the female patient is always to blame.

Let me tell you there ARE doctors who make a play for their patients—and without encouragement.

Perhaps a nurse should guard unsuspecting women patients a little more, rather than the doctor. And although a married doctor may be very busy, if he is the type, he'll have the time, if he finally persuades HER to take the time.—IRATE EX-DENTAL PATIENT

Dear Irate: Well, did he? 'Taint fair to leave readers cliff-hanging.

And if he tried, you met a very unusual doctor. Most wouldn't risk their practice cosying up to an unpredictable patient when, if they're the type, they can manage it pretty well after hours at the country club.—H.

Dear Helen: I have this sister-in-law who wants nothin' but sorryness. Her husband left her with a little baby and she thinks our family should grant her every wish. If we're nice to her, she moves in. She expects us to carry her everywhere, pamper, sympathize, take care of her. Frankly, we're getting fed up with the "poor mistreated wife" bit. Solution?—S.I.A.

Dear S: Her husband probably tired of it first—and the straight truth may open her eyes. Tell her nobody likes a whining clinger and if she'd exchange self-pity for self-sufficiency, she might get an extra dividend: A man around the house again.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star. Copyright, 1967, Inc.

The last half of the match between the Orange Team and the California All-Stars was played before a Bridge-O-Rama audience which saw the second play of each hand and the results.

The Dallas audience was rooting for the Dallas team and was very unhappy when they saw that Don Krauss of California had played four spades doubled and made five. The bidding was that shown in the box.

Dr. John Fisher of Dallas, a member of the Jacoby team that won the 1965 Vanderbilt and second with James Jacoby in the World's Pair championship at Amsterdam in 1966, remarked while the players were getting ready to bid, "This hand shows why it is so much easier to watch than to play. These are all action players who operate on the theory that if you sit around doing nothing, you never fall down but you never get anywhere either. I predict the same bidding and same result on this replay."

John turned out to be a prophet. Billy Eisenberg opened three spades. He had a typical vulnerable pre-empt. Ron von der Porten doubled. No one was going to shut him out with 16 high card points and fine support for any suit that his partner might bid.

Mike Lawrence raised to four spades. He had the right hand with which to make the bid.

It was up to Lew Mathe to act. We aren't going to say that Lew is the greatest player in the world. All we will say is that no one is any better.

Lew started to think. Fisher said, "If he could see all the cards he would pass but all he sees are his own 13. Only a 'Milquetoast' would pass with his hand, and Lew is an active player."

Sure enough, Lew did double and Billy made the same overtrick that Don had.

Candidate Protection Difficult

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The shifting cast of characters on the political stage has kept the Secret Service hopping in its new role as protector of presidential and vice presidential hopefuls.

There was a wholesale changing of the guard, for instance, after last week's Republican National Convention and another will follow the upcoming Democratic convention.

Since they ended up in the GOP losers' column at Miami, Harold Stassen, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan no longer qualify for shielding by the Secret Service.

The details of agents assigned to them have been withdrawn and dealt out to newcomers on the candidate list—GOP vice presidential nominee Spiro T. Agnew, for instance, and Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, who blossomed over the weekend as a Democratic contender.

The assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles while he was campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination in June was the event that added candidate protection to the chores of the Secret Service, traditional guardians of the president and vice president.

When he assigned the new role, President Johnson acknowledged he had no specific authority to do so. But Congress backed him up, quickly supplying a law extending Secret Service protection to "major candidates" for the presidency and vice presidency.

Some $2 million was voted to cover increased Secret Service expenses through the election. A spokesman for the agency said Tuesday it is not known yet whether this will be enough. The amount was picked by using data from past campaigns in which the president or vice president went on the campaign trail, he said.

The decision as to who gets the protection and who doesn't rests under the statute with the secretary of the Treasury, advised by a committee made up of the speaker of the House and the Republican and Democratic leaders in each chamber of Congress.

In the case of McGovern, a committee spokesman said, the advisory committee members who could be reached were polled by telephone Saturday and were unanimous that McGovern fits the "major candidate" criterion. Agents joined McGovern at 12:58 p.m. Monday.

McGovern brings the list of protected candidates to six, including Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who comes under the Secret Service umbrella on two counts—as the vice president and as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Also on the protected list are Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, Humphrey's main rival for nomination; GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon and his running mate Agnew, and American Independent Party candidate George Wallace.

"There is Secret Service protection for the families," a Treasury official said, "while they're with the candidates and while in situations in which there is some significant risk."

The Secret Service won't discuss members of agents assigned to particular candidates or their families but a spokesman said the party conventions call for the biggest muster of security men.

Connie Johnson, age 14, was the first Candy Striper to teen-age volunteer to work a total of 50 hours and earn a cap at Hemstead Memorial Hospital and Nursing Home. Mrs. Juanita Rice places the cap.

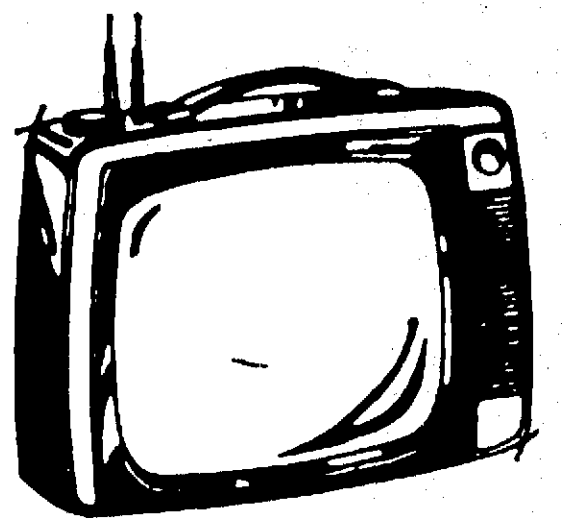

After 100 hours of volunteer work, they will receive a 1/4 in. red velvet stripe to be worn on the cap. After 500 hours they will receive a 3/4 in. stripe. Candy Striper name pins are furnished to each girl by the hospital.

The program was started July 2 and is sponsored by the Hope Junior Auxiliary. The girls to volunteer the first day were Rita Taylor, Tina Martin, Janice Whitaker and Rhonda Moses. The patients, their families, and all the nurses are enjoying the girls very much.

Olivia and Carew Hot for Twins

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rod Carew is winning his match race with Elmer Flick, and Tony Oliva aims to make it a Twin Double.

Carew, the American League's leading hitter, cracked a double and two singles, raising his average five points to .309, as Minnesota clubbed Washington 8-4 Tuesday night.

Oliva, the Twins' two-time batting champion, also drilled three hits to hold the No. 2 spot behind Carew and climb within two points of the elusive .300 mark.

Flick, an old-time Cleveland outfielder, won the 1905 batting title with a .306 mark, the lowest ever for a league leader. A month ago, it appeared the 1968 AL king would have the dubious distinction of lowering Flick's standard.

But Carew has launched a torrid August spree and Oliva, back in the lineup after recovering from a leg injury, is starting to match his teammate stride for stride.

In other American League games, Cleveland nipped first place Detroit 1-0 on Sonny Siebert's three-hitter; second place Baltimore shaded Oakland 6-5; Boston nudged Chicago 4-3 and New York trimmed California 3-2.

Cincinnati outslugged Atlanta 9-8 in 10 innings; the Chicago Cubs mauled St. Louis 10-3; San Francisco whipped Pittsburgh 3-0; the New York Mets topped Los Angeles 2-0 and Houston divided a twin-nighter with Philadelphia, winning 5-0 before a 4-2 loss, in National League play.

Oliva's three singles, good for three RBI, helped the Twins stake rookie Tom Hall to an 8-2 early lead and the 20-year-old left-hander posted his first major league victory with late relief help from Al Worthington.

Carew extended his hitting streak to 12 games with a pair of scratch singles and a two-run double. The Twins' second baseman has been swinging at a .442 clip, with 23-for-52, since taking off on July 31. The streak has boosted his average 26 points from .283.

Oliva, sidelined for 10 games with a pulled hamstring in his left leg, got back in the lineup on Aug. 4 and has gone 12-for-32 since then for a nine-point pickup.

Siebert struck out eight and stranded two Detroit runners on third in halting the Tigers' four-game winning streak. Larry Brown's bases-loaded single in the second inning delivered the only run in the game.

The Cleveland right-hander weathered a one-out triple by Mickey Stanley in the first inning, but did not allow another hit until Norm Cash singled in the seventh and left Al Kaline on third in the eighth after he had singled and moved around on a pair of outs.

Don Buford, whose two-run single in the fourth broke a 3-3 tie, accounted for the Orioles' winning marker with a ninth-inning homer before relievers John Morris and Eddie Watt checked a last-ditch Oakland comeback at one run.

Baltimore's Dave McNally, bidding for his eighth straight victory, was knocked out in the fourth but Pete Richert hurled 3 1-3 innings of scoreless relief for his second victory in two nights.

Rico Petrocelli knocked in two early runs with a double and his 12th homer, then stroked a tie-breaking sacrifice fly after Ken Harrelson's eighth-inning triple to send the Red Sox past Chicago.

California's Sammy Ellis walked five batters in the first inning, helping the Yankees grab a 3-0 lead, and they held off the Angels behind southpaw Steve Barber and reliever Lindy McDaniel. Andy Kosco drove in New York's first two runs with a bases-loaded single and Ellis forced across the deciding tally with a bases-loaded walk to Horace Clarke.

Westchester Favorite Is Nicklaus

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus, defending champion and winner of two tour events, is the overwhelming favorite in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic—richest of all the pro tournaments.

"The way he's playing, I guess you have to go with Jack," Masters champ Bob Goalby said Tuesday. "He won it last year and the way he's playing now, well..."

The 72-hole event, with a first prize of $50,000, opens Thursday on the 6,648-yard Westchester Country Club course. The big money has drawn all the big names in the game—with the exception of Gary Player, at home in South Africa.

The tournament will not be affected by the announcement Tuesday afternoon in New York of a break between the touring pros and the Professional Golfers Association, but was a major topic of conversation among the players still at the club house.

Besides Palmer and Trevino, other major contenders in the field of about 160 include Bill Casper, PGA champ Julius Boros, Goalby, Bob Charles of New Zealand, Tom Weiskopf and Roberto De Vincenzo of Argentina.

Fewer Ducks for Hunters, Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hunters would be permitted to shoot fewer ducks this winter than they did last year and be restricted more closely on the killing of white-fronted geese under proposals made Tuesday to the federal government.

The recommendations of the Waterfowl Regulations Committee of the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife were submitted at a meeting of the Waterfowl Advisory Committee of the Interior Department attended by spokesmen for conservation groups and the heads of regional councils.

The two-day meeting will produce final recommendations which will be considered by the Secretary of the Interior in announcing the framework and guidelines covering the hunting of waterfowl for the season which will start in early October and continue until mid-January.

The recommendations for the Mississippi Flyway includes 26 consecutive open season days or a split season totaling 25 days with a daily bag limit of two and four in possession.

The limit on Mergansers would be five in the bag and 10 in possession of which not more than one daily and two in possession could be hooded Mergansers.

A daily bag limit for geese would be five and there would be no open season on Canada geese in Arkansas and Louisiana and three counties of Mississippi.

In all states except Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri, the daily bag and possession limits may not include more than two Canada geese, or two White-fronted geese, or one Canada goose, and one White-fronted goose.

In Illinois and Missouri the daily bag limit would be two Canada, or two White-fronted geese, or one of each. The kill of Canada geese in the Swan

21 Magic for Mays, Marichal

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Twenty-one is the magic number for Willie Mays and Juan Marichal. Mays needs them and Marichal has them.

Marichal won his 21st game of the season Tuesday night, and San Francisco blanked Pittsburgh 3-0 on Mays' 579th career homer. The eighth-inning shot left Willie just 21 short of the coveted 600 mark.

The homer was only the second in a month for Mays and his 15th this season. His last one was on Aug. 2, also against the Pirates.

Marichal pitched a two-hitter and now is 14-1 on the road and only 7-4 at home this season. The shutout was the 37th of his career, placing him second on the all-time Giant list, one ahead of Carl Hubbell. Christy Mathewson holds the club record with 83.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago's rampaging Cubs walloped St. Louis 10-3. New York used three pitchers to shut out Los Angeles 2-0, Cincinnati outslugged Atlanta 9-8 and Houston split a twin-night doubleheader with Philadelphia, winning 5-0 and then losing 4-2.

In the American League, Minnesota downed Washington 8-4, Cleveland blanked Detroit 1-0, Boston shaded Chicago 4-3, New York edged California 3-2 and Baltimore slipped past Oakland 6-5.

Marichal was locked in a scoreless pitching duel with Pittsburgh's Bob Veale until the eighth. Then Hal Lanier walked and Ron Hunt was hit by a pitch, setting the stage for Mays.

The only Pirate hits against Marichal, 21-5, were a leadoff single by Maury Wills in the first and a one-out single by Donn Clendenon in the second. Two walks helped Pittsburgh load the bases with two out in the second but Marichal struck out Bob Veale, ending the threat.

The Cubs, valiantly trying to create a pennant race in the NL, beat St. Louis for the seventh straight time with Ron Santo driving in four runs on a double and a homer.

Santo's 17th homer of the year snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh and Chicago wrapped it up with a five-run eighth-inning. Ferguson Jenkins won his 13th game and struck out 12, increasing his league-leading total to 180.

The victory left the second place Cubs 12 games back of the Cardinals.

New York's Don Cardwell had the Dodgers shut out on three hits until the ninth but when Len Gabrielson and Willie Davis opened with singles, Met Manager Gil Hodges brought on southpaw Billy Short to face left-handed batter Tom Haller.

The strategy worked with Haller, attempting to bunt, forcing Gabrielson at third. Then Hodges brought Cal Koonce in to retire Ken Boyer and Bob Bailey and wrap it up.

Larry Stahl tagged three hits and drove in one of New York's runs.

Leo Cardenas' ninth-inning homer tied the game for Cincinnati and the Reds beat the Braves in the 10th on Mack Jones' double and a run-scoring single by Tony Perez.

The Reds tagged 19 hits—four of them by Pete Rose—and the Braves had 16 safeties. Fred Whitfield drove in three runs with a single and his first homer of the year for Cincinnati while Felix Millan and Bob Johnson had three hits each and Tito Francona three RBI for Atlanta.

Don Wilson pitched a four-hitter and Doug Rader tagged a two-run homer, helping Houston to its first game victory over Philadelphia. Denis Menke's bases-loaded single keyed a three-run wrap-up rally in the sixth inning for the Astros.

Rich Allen's two-run homer in the second inning of the nightcap halted a 30-inning Philadelphia scoring drought and the Phillies gained the split when Gary Sutherland's pinch single drove in the tie-breaking run in a two-run seventh-inning rally.

Lake area of Missouri would be limited to 25,000 birds.

For the Central Flyway the open season on ducks would be 30 consecutive days or a split season totaling 27 days with basic bag limit of four daily for duck, five for Mergansers. However, the bag limit would be two for Mallards.

The basic bag limit for geese in the Central region would be five daily. But in Nebraska, Kansas, parts of South Dakota, most of Oklahoma and much of Texas, the bag could not include more than one White-fronted goose, or two Canada geese,

Coaches Introduced to Kiwanians

BILL LAWRENCE, JIM JORDAN, DURWOOD BURNS

Football was the subject of the regular noon luncheon of Hope Kiwanis Club Tuesday at Town & Country. Bob Moers introduced Head Football Coach Ronny Higgins who in turn introduced his assistants Jim Jordan and Bill Lawrence.

Also presented was Durwood Burns who will serve as head basketball coach as well as principal of Junior High School. Gaylord Solomon, also a football assistant, will be in charge of Junior High athletics.

Bobkittens Also Start Practice

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports writer

As the football Bobcats began their preseason conditioning workouts this morning, head junior high coach Gaylord Solomon announced that his '68 Bobkittens would start practicing Monday afternoon at 1:00 p.m.

Bobcat Coach Ronnie Higgins expected between 40 and 45 to report for the new season today, and is hoping to find a well-conditioned squad which would allow him to get down to business earlier.

From the looks of things when the team got together for the Booster Club-sponsored feed Monday night, Higgins may get his wish. Hardly anyone in the group which will form the nucleus of this year's team hasn't worked into fair shape, and many have practiced together for the past few weeks.

The Bobcats have three weeks to prepare for the home opener with Ashdown on September 6, which by the luck of the calendar allows for nearly an extra week of prepping. And should the Cats begin to realize their potential, things could start happening.

One of the most crucial factors in preseason practicing is After Hope's bad luck over the last several years in that department, the pendulum could easily swing our way.

A few changes have been made in the HHS coaching staff for this year, all of whom will be featured later. Ronnie Higgins steps up to head mentor, replacing Freddie Glaze. His assistants include Bill Lawrence, Ed White, Jim Jordan, Gaylord Solomon (Jr. High), and Durwood Bourns (Basketball).

A hit batsman, a walk and Billy Wolff's homer sewed up the win for the Travs in the ninth.

Amarillo retaliated with two runs in the bottom of the sixth on two walks, a double, and a single by John Marsden.

Phil Knuckles picked up the victory although he needed regular help. Les Scott was the loser.

In another game, San Antonio nipped Memphis 3-2 in its final game of the season against the Blues.

San Antonio got only five hits off Barry Raziano, who went the distance for the Blues, but bunched four of those in the fourth inning, when it got all its 3 runs.

Knuckles, Hamende (6), Cosman (7) and Ruberto; Scott; Wysocki (5), Quimby (6), Burgess (8), Welsh (8) and Himes. W — Knuckles (11-5). L — Scott (6-5). Home runs — Arkansas, Boyer, Lee, Wolff; Amarillo, Himes, Morales.

Golf World Undergoing Big Revolt

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The multi-million-dollar structure of big time tournament golf trembled today under the impact of a player revolt that left sponsors, television officials and the pros themselves in a state of chaos and confusion.

"I think we had to take the action, but I'm a little scared," said Masters champion Bob Goalby, expressing the sentiments of a large number of the affluent golfing gypsies.

"I signed with the players, but I haven't been in on any of the ground work," said Arnold Palmer, the game's richest and perhaps most popular competitor. "I think this action may result in more negotiation. It would be better if the PGA and players could work together."

"I've received calls from all over the country in the past few weeks from sponsors who are fed up to here," said Angus M. Mairs of Minneapolis, president of the International Golf Sponsors Association, representing 33 of the 43 men who put up the $5.6 million to conduct the rich pro tour.

Mairs and other sponsors indicated they probably would line up with the players in the dispute with the ruling Professional Golfers Association. A meeting of sponsors has been called for Houston Sept. 5 or 6.

Bringing a long-simmering feud to a sudden and dramatic head, the players announced in New York Tuesday that they were breaking with the PGA and preparing to set up a tour of their own.

Through their attorney, Sam Gates of New York, they said they planned no immediate boycott but would honor all existing contracts, which include all 1968 tournaments and at least a couple in 1969—the Bob Hope Classic at Palm Desert, Calif., and the Doral at Miami.

The $250,000 Westchester Classic Opens at Rye, N.Y., Thursday.

What a number of questions remain unanswered: What about the new, two-year contract signed recently by the PGA with the American Broadcasting Company, giving ABC the right to televise virtually every big tournament except the Masters?

"The PGA had to promise the network a representative field," a spokesman close to the TV negotiations said. "It's unreasonable to believe the PGA could hold the ABC to the contract if it couldn't produce the top players."

What is going to be the reaction of the club pros, who make up the bulk of the PGA membership with a total of 5,800 compared with 280 touring pros?

"I think most of the club pros will back us up when they hear the real story," said touring pro Dick Sikes.

"The club pros may overrule their own officers," added Goalby.

The PGA has called a meeting of the Executive Committee Friday at the national headquarters in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., to discuss future plans.

"We are 52 years old and we built and nurtured the tour from nothing," said Leo Fraser of Atlantic City, N.J., the PGA secretary who is slated to succeed Max Elbin of Washington, D.C., as president.

"You may rest assured—we will always have a tour." This statement gave rise to speculation that there may be two rival tours—one with the current star players under a new organization, the other a PGA circuit with newcomers.

"The guys in the saddle now can't last forever," said one PGA official.

Issues in Revolt of Golf Pros

NEW YORK (AP) — What is the fuss all about that caused the touring pros to break away from the Professional Golfers Association?

Here is a primer on the dispute:

Who are the principals?

The PGA, an organization of club professionals formed 52 years ago which started the tour on a shoestring in the late 1920s and the touring pros, the blue ribbon stars.

What is the players' beef?

The players feel they should be permitted to control their $5.6 million tour without interference from the PGA.

Is there interference?

The PGA always has exercised a certain veto power. The tour is under the control of the Tournament Committee, made up of the four top officials of the PGA and four players, in case of a 4-4 deadlock, the matter originally was referred to the pro-PGA Executive Committee. Later a three-man arbitration board from the Advisory Committee was set up but never used.

Has there been a deadlock?

A year ago the Executive Committee turned down a players' proposal for a $200,000 tournament in California which would conflict with the Bob Hope Classic. There was a difference last year on rules for consecutive putting and cleaning the ball but the PGA gave in to the players.

What exactly do the players want?

They want their own organization within the framework of the PGA. They asked for an amendment to the constitution forming a special section of the PGA for tournament players which would be virtually autonomous.

Why didn't the PGA agree?

The PGA insisted that this would be turning the tour completely over to the players and would relegate the PGA, which started the tour and built it up, to the role of a mere figurehead.

Giants Have Passed Stiff Test Already

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — When the National Football League split itself four ways, New York was such a nice place to visit that everybody wanted to keep a piece of the Giants' action.

That's why sold-out Yankee Stadium should be a welcome sight for two of New York's new Capitol Division rivals when they return this fall after a year's absence.

But if Allie Sherman has anything to say about it, the Giants will pull up the red carpet considerably short of their end zone.

Sherman's Giants, shifted from the Century Division to the Capitol this year under a 1966 realignment agreement worked out to offer continued New York exposure for all the Eastern Conference clubs, are pegging their 1963 title hopes on the maturity of a young and previously erratic defensive unit.

The Giants already have passed one stiff test, upsetting Green Bay's NFL champions 15-14 in their exhibition debut. But they'll probably need every preventive weapon they can muster in the Capitol race against the Dallas Cowboys and Washington Redskins, who didn't play in New York last year, and the Philadelphia Eagles, who did.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton put the Giants back together again last season after their nightmarish 1966 collapse. But further improvement, particularly on defense, is a must if they expect to give Dallas' division favorites a run for the money.

"We think our offense, with Tarkenton, will be explosive again," says Sherman, beginning his eighth season as the Giants head coach. "We expect it to remain at the same level, although, of course, we hope it'll be even better."

"We're looking for an upgrade of about 25 per cent on defense."

In 1967 the Giants had to score more touchdowns, 49, than any other NFL club for a 7-7 finish in the Century race. Tarkenton, sensational split end Homer Jones, hard-running Ernie Koy and their offensive cohorts put 369 points on the board. But the defense yielded 379.

Still, the defenders showed marked gains over the debacle of 1966, when they gave up an NFL record 501 points as the Giants tumbled to 1-12-1, their worst win/loss record.

If the front four—Bruce Anderson, Roger Anderson, Bob Lurtsema and 13-year vet Jim Katcavage—can get to opposing passers more often than last season, they could take some pressure off an improving young secondary.

"I'd like to see us rush the passer better," Sherman concedes. "It's not as good as we'd like it to be."

The linebacking could be the club's strongest suit, with the return of the 1967 trio—Bill Swain, Vince Costello and Ken Avery—and the addition of ex-Packer Tommy Crutcher and rugged rookie Henry Davis.

Free safety Carl Lockhart and cornerback Scott Eaton are solid in the secondary. Willie Williams and Freeman White probably will be at cornerback and tight safety, respectively.

Last year, the Giants' attack thrived on the magic of Tarkenton, who passed for 3,088 yards and 29 touchdowns, ran for 306 yards and captivated New York fans with his ad-lib brilliance.

Jones caught 49 passes, averaging almost 25 yards per reception and scoring 14 TDs—high in the NFL. Tight end Aaron Thomas, 51 catches and nine touchdowns, and flanker Joe Morrison, 37 and seven also were standouts.

Koy topped New York ball carriers with 704 rushing yards, his backfield mate, Tucker Frederickson, who's coming off his second knee operation in two years, runs with abandon and blocks superbly—when he's healthy.

Up front, the only foreseeable change involves tackle Steve Wright, who came to the Giants with Crutcher from Green Bay in a trade for tackle Francis Peay. He'll get a shot at right tackle. Left tackle Willie Young, guards Pete Case and Darrell Dess and center Greg Larson complete the interior.

Several rookies, among them Davis, offensive tackle Rich Busin, defensive end McKinley Boston, defensive back Bobby Duhan and flanker Jo Koonitz, appear to have made the club.

Sherman approaches the Giants' season kickoff next month with guarded optimism.

Saints Trying to Start Marching

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New Orleans Saints are making every effort to come marching in to their second National Football League season as strong as possible at the quarterback position.

They obtained Karl Sweetan, the 25-year-old third-year quarterback, from the Detroit Lions Tuesday in a trade for Walter "Flea" Roberts, a split end, plus an undisclosed draft choice.

"We are getting a young and experienced quarterback in Sweetan," said Vic Schwent, New Orleans' general manager. "Bill Kilmer still is our No. 1 quarterback, but Sweetan figures in our plans for the future here."

The Saints' future is bound to be brighter than their one-year past. They failed to make capital of their first chance in the NFL, finishing in last place in the Eastern Conference's Capital Division with a 3-11 record. They're in the Century Division this year, switching places with the New York Giants.

Sweetan, a 6-foot-1, 250-pounder, completed 74 of 177 aerials while alternating with Milt Plum at Detroit last year. His passes gained 901 yards and he hit for 10 touchdowns. Kilmer connected for six touchdowns by passing.

John Wooten, 31-year-old guard, and Jay Bachman, an offensive lineman, are also with new clubs.

Wooten, released by the Cleveland Browns of the NFL last month because of a racial controversy, signed with the Washington Redskins of the same circuit.

The Wooten-Cleveland controversy stemmed from a golf tournament at a private club to which teammate Ross Fichtner belonged. White Cleveland players, but no Negroes, were invited to the tournament. Wooten, a Negro, and Fichtner, who is white, were dropped by the Browns, according to owner Art Modell, to forestall racial disharmony. Fichtner since has signed with New Orleans. Wooten, 6-3 and 250 pounds is considered one of the finest guards in the league.

Bachman, 6-3 and 240 pounds, was acquired by the Los Angeles Rams from the Green Bay Packers in another NFL transaction. The Packers got a future draft choice. Bachman played center and guard on the Packers' reserve squad last year. He was Green Bay's fifth draft choice in 1967.

The Kansas City Chiefs of the American League released David Bonds, a defensive halfback. He spent two years on the taxi squad and had been signed by the Chiefs after being released by Washington.

Meanwhile, the AFL's New York Jets said that a sore left knee and not extra money demands for exhibition games is keeping quarterback Joe Namath on the sidelines.

Namath and club officials denied a television and news report that Namath refused to play against the Houston Oilers Monday night because he wasn't paid an additional $3,000.

In other news, Marty Amsler, he says, "but we're a better ball club than we were a year ago at this time."

"This has been the toughest camp we've ever had and the players are in the best shape in my memory at this stage. I think we're ready to move along now."

Three Players Charged With Breaking Pact

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The contracts of three players who allegedly jumped their contracts to play with the Arkansas Diamonds of the Continental Football League are legal and valid, Diamond Coach Tom Burke said Tuesday.

Burke said attorneys had advised the Diamonds of the players' opinion, and Burke said the club would back the players all the way.

The three players, Grady Anthony, Benjamin Anthony and John Talley, all of Phoenix, Ariz., signed contracts with the Arkansas Diamonds of the Texas Football League May 30.

They were fined by TFL Commissioner George Schepps for what he said was jumping their contracts with the Texarkana club. Schepps said he was suspending the players until they reported to Texarkana. He set their fines at $150 each.

Burke said in a statement that if Texarkana or the TFL felt it had a legal claim on the players, "I suggest they proceed through the courts rather than through the news media and, until such time that they do so, there will be no other statements from this office concerning this matter."

Nigerians Marching to Crush Biafra

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer
LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Two columns of Nigerian commandos were reported pushing north today toward the Biafran stronghold of Aba in what could be the start of an all-out offensive to crush the 13-month-old secession of eastern Nigeria's Ibo tribesmen.

Informed sources said at least two brigades of Nigeria's 3rd Marine Commando Division were advancing from the Port Harcourt sector toward Aba, the largest of the three towns still under secessionist control.

The military high command in Lagos refused to divulge details of the offensive, but a high ranking officer said troops commanded by Col. Benjamin Adekunle were reported trying to cross the Imo River, 15 miles south of Aba. Another column was believed pushing across the river at the Imo railway station, about 22 miles from Aba.

Aba, which had a pre-war population of 131,000, has been the command headquarters for the Biafran regime of Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu since federal forces captured the secessionist capital, Enugu, last Oct. 5.

Radio Biafra reported that Umu Abayi, on the southern bank of the Imo River, has been under heavy mortar attack for the past three days. The broadcast said 35,000 civilians were fleeing and that Biafran authorities were undertaking a massive civilian evacuation from the area.

Fighting also was reported around Ikot Ekpene, a refugee center 28 miles northeast of Aba.

Commanders of the three Nigerian divisions surrounding the core of Biafran-held territory met in Lagos today, presumably to plan a final offensive.

"We will be clearing our minds this morning," said one participant.

The new fighting was reported as peace talks resumed today in the Ethiopian capital Addis Ababa. Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie is presiding over the secret negotiations. Informants said the delegates would discuss the opening of a relief corridor to ship food and medicine to starving civilian war victims in blockaded Biafra.

Enahoro said the Biafrans had been offered openings to give up secession gracefully and to discuss amnesty for anyone, including the rebel leader Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu.

But he added: "I am afraid if the rebels do not utilize the openings we have created, even the emperor's efforts may be to no avail." He referred to conciliation efforts by Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia.

Tuesday's session of the Addis

First National Bank's Drive-in water fountain was filled yesterday and apparently Assistant Cashier Charles E. Sharpe Jr. was so delighted he jumped right in clothes and all. Watching (under the umbrella) is Ray Lawrence, vice-president and cashier.

Ababa talks was postponed after Enahoro left, and the Biafrans reportedly want to wait for his return. Enahoro said he had no plans to rush back. Femi Okunnu, at 30 the youngest of Nigeria's civilian commissioners, was placed in charge of the Lagos delegation.

The Biafrans have insisted they never will reunite with Nigeria. They have been driven into an area about one-third the size of the territory for which they proclaimed independence in May 1967, but have managed to tie up some major federal supply routes with guerrilla harassment.

The federal army also is believed hampered by lack of transport and rains, which now are subsiding. But it has been bolstered by delivery of 5,000 rifles and one million rounds of ammunition from Spain and the reported arrival of four Soviet Ilyushin-28 medium jet bombers.

Negotiations on relief efforts continue. The Nigerian Red Cross said Tuesday that the Nigerian government is considering permitting mercy flights to Biafra if the secessionists provide a neutral airstrip under international Red Cross control. The idea is to make it impossible for arms to be shipped on the relief flights.

The Red Cross suspended relief flights last weekend after Nigerian anti-aircraft guns fired on a relief plane. But in Lisbon, Catholic sources said planes chartered by Caritas, the Roman Catholic charity organization, are continuing to fly food and medicine to Biafra at night.

In Washington, Biafra's American publicist has accused its regime of deliberately prolonging starvation to win world sympathy.

Robert S. Goldstein Tuesday denounced the regime and announced his resignation as its chief publicist at a news conference.

Goldstein, of Van Nuys, Calif., was hired by the regime under a $400,000 contract.

Goldstein said tons of food donated from around the world is being kept out by the refusal to open a land supply corridor.

Shutdown of Missile Sites Probable

By ROBERT HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As an economy measure, the Army is considering shutting down a number of antibomber missile batteries, Pentagon sources say.

Built at a cost of millions, some sites have been operating 10 years or less.

The proposed action reflects the pressure the services are now under to meet spending cuts ordered by Congress in exchange for passage of President Johnson's 10 per cent income surtax.

The Navy already has gone on the financial chopping block, laying up 30 ships, including a nuclear submarine and a fleet of World War II support vessels, and deactivating eight air squadrons to save an estimated $118 million.

The Army was hit earlier with a Defense Department decision to save $125 million by not activating the 6th Infantry Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky., as originally planned.

The over-all government spending cuts were originally pegged at $6 billion, a figure that may be revised upward. The Pentagon is expected to account for about half of the amount by slashing almost everything not needed for the war.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said last week the No. 1 rule in economizing is that "the needs of our forces in Southeast Asia must be provided for fully, without exceptions."

The proposed missile cutback may knock out perhaps a dozen or more Nike-Hercules batteries across the country, sources indicated.

Exactly how many units are to be shut down, and where, is understood to be under consideration in the Pentagon. But at least some are expected to be National Guard outfits.

The Guard has 54 Nike-Hercules firing units in the United States and Hawaii operated under supervision of the Army Air Defense command. The Army has about 70 units of its own, some in Maryland, Ohio, New York, California and elsewhere.

The first Nike-Hercules units became operational only in 1958, assigned to guard against an attack by nuclear-armed enemy bombers. The 39-foot missile, which can be fitted with an atomic or conventional warhead, is supposed to be able to knock down bombers traveling 2,000 miles per hour.

As was the case with the Navy deactivations last week, the Pentagon will delay announcement of the plan—once it is approved—until congressmen whose states are affected are informed of the action.

Closure of the missile sites will also mark a further scaling down of the nation's continental air defenses.

Corning Is Beaten in Tournament

SIKESTON, Mo. (AP) — Three shutout victories were posted Tuesday in opening round action of the South Plains Regional Connie Mack baseball tournament.

In the opening game, Grand Prairie, Tex., behind the three-hit pitching of Wesley White, defeated Cape Girardeau, Mo., 9-0.

In the second contest, Beaumont, Tex., with three-run explosions in the third and fifth innings, whipped El Paso, Tex., 6-0.

In the third game, Ft. Worth, Tex., beat Corning, Ark., 5-0. Terry Newton struck out 12 and gave up five hits for the winners.

Last year's sectional winner, Sikeston Potlatch, played La Junta, Colo., in the final games Tuesday.

SHARK TAKES SHARE EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — Latest fish story here is about one that got away. E.L. Timmins hooked a big kob and played it for an hour and a half. As he was about to land it, a leaping shark seized the kob behind its gills. As proof Timmins displayed a 35-pound head. Experts said this indicated the fish weighed at least 100 pounds and could easily have been much heavier.

Regular Daily Exercise Most Helpful Procedure

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What causes angina pectoris? How can one avoid it? How do Peritrate, Cardilate and propylthiouracil help it? Is digitalis poisonous to the heart?

A—Angina pectoris is caused by a spasm or narrowing of one of the coronary arteries in the heart muscle. To prevent it you should avoid cigarettes, keep your weight below the upper normal limit for your height, have your doctor check your blood pressure and treat it if it is high, and get regular exercise every day rather than saving it up for the weekend or your vacation.

Peritrate and Cardilate are long-acting nitrates given to dilate your coronary arteries. Propylthiouracil is given to counteract excessive thyroid secretion. Any beneficial effect it would have on angina would be indirect.

Digitalis is given to produce slower, more forceful heart beats. If the dose is not carefully regulated, digitalis poisoning ushered in by vomiting will occur.

Q—I am 63 and have been advised by one doctor to take digoxin. Another advised digitalis. I took the latter for two weeks but stopped because it slowed my heart too much. Please explain the difference between these two drugs.

A—Digoxin is a purified derivative of digitalis leaves. It is preferred to digitalis because it is effective in much smaller doses. Both drugs must be taken under medical supervision.

Q—What is arteriosclerotic heart disease with hypertension? Is it serious?

A—This is hardening of the coronary arteries with high blood pressure. It is serious because without skillful treatment a coronary heart attack is certain to occur.

Q—What is cor pulmonale with congestive heart failure? What can be done for it?

A—Persons with an enlargement of the right ventricle of the heart (cor pulmonale) usually have congestive heart failure (a damming back of the blood and water-logging of the lungs). The treatment, which must be based on the individual needs of the victim, may include drugs to dilate the bronchial tubes, steam inhalations, digitalis and diuretics (water pills).

Q—I am a girl, 15. I always have cold hands even in warm weather. What causes this?

A—Poor circulation due to nervous tension is the usual cause.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The first to use a bandwagon for advertising was Benjamin Talbot Babbitt, whose "Babbitt's Best Soap" earned him a fortune. The World Almanac notes. In 1871, Babbitt loaded some musicians atop a wagon pulled by eight white Arabian stallions to distribute soap samples. Babbitt was also one of the first to advertise in public conveyances—his slogan "For All Nations" appeared in Broadway streetcars.

Electronic Future Is in Store for the American Housewife

NEW YORK (AP) — America's housewives may spend more time pushing buttons than sewing them on in our electronic future.

For example, says Milt Immerman, a top industrial designer:

"She will have in her kitchen a small television screen and a console with a number of buttons.

"Instead of making a daily trip to the supermarket, she will push a button and see on the screen a parade of products and their prices, including the day's specials. She'll push coded buttons to select the items she wishes. The last button she presses will give the code key to her bank.

"Her grocery order will be filled overnight at a central distributing center, charged to her bank account, and delivered to her door the following morning."

Sound like a dream? Immerman, who makes a business of turning dreams into realities at the drafting board, is full of visions of what life may be like next.

"As our society gets more urban," he remarked, "The problem will be to get people from one place to another."

"It may become practical to join skyscrapers at their rooftops with connecting struts that will both strengthen them against sway and provide runways or landing strips for people flying into the city. Monorails could be put under the struts to enable quick travel from one place to another within the city."

Immerman, a big, genial graying man of 58 with a tremendous gusto for living, is president of Walter Dorwin Teague Associates, Inc. The firm is named after its late founder, a pioneer in the still pioneering field of engineering design.

He and his colleagues have designed products ranging from soap wrappers to the world's first automatic robot, a fellow called Unimate.

"The Ford company now has 15 or 20 of these Unimates," he said. "They can be taught to perform 16,000 different functions. They can pour you a cup of coffee or lift a 75-pound white-hot casting from a foundry."

Pointing out that the Industrial Design Society of America still has only about 600 members, Immerman said the field was wide open to talented young men and women interested in helping man "fashion his response to the challenge of his changing environment."

"The big reward is the reward of being a pioneer," he observed. "You are ahead of your times. You work on things that won't reach the public for several years."

The dollar reward is a lure too. Industrial designers, he said, earn from $5,000 to $40,000 or $50,000 a year.

To Immerman, industrial designing at its best is a happy wedding of the skills and knowledge of such various disciplines as engineering, architecture, marketing, sociology and psychology.

He himself entered the still new field after earning an engineering degree at the University of Iowa and serving an apprenticeship as a Broadway stage designer. His hobby is portrait painting.

Immerman and his staff of 250 work on as many as 1,000 to 1,500 projects and problems in a year. One that tickles him the most was one of the simplest—the design of a rectangular package for toothpaste.

"It reduced pilferage by 75 per cent," he said, smiling. "It's harder to pocket or slip up your sleeve a package with phus to get ready for the congressional race, must face Republican Guy Newcomb of Osceola in the Nov. 5 general election. The winner will gain the U.S. House seat being vacated by Rep. E. C. "Took" Gathings, D-Ark., who is retiring after 30 years in Congress.

Newcomb, a druggist and planter, was state coordinator of the Barry Goldwater for president campaign in Arkansas in 1964 and was a district finance chairman for Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in the 1966 gubernatorial race.

Alexander led Files from the moment the first precinct was reported, and through the night he commanded more than 60 per cent of the vote.

Alexander and Files, both 35, conducted vigorous campaigns, but in different fashion.

Files frequently criticized Alexander, calling him the "machine candidate," and a hand-picked man of the big plantation owners in the eastern part of the 15-county district. He also labeled Alexander as "Bogus Bill."

Files, a former aide to Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., also had charged that Alexander was not taking a stand on issues that amounted to anything.

Alexander answered Files by only saying he was "running a gentleman's campaign."

Alexander led the ticket in the preferential primary with 31,516 votes. Files polled 12,007 to nose out Dr. Ralph Patton of Paragould for the runoff spot.

Alexander attended the University of Arkansas and received his law degree from Vanderbilt University. He is married to the former Gwen Haven of Forrest City. They had their first child, a girl, at the opening of the campaign.

In a victory statement, Alexander said his triumph was a "victory for the American system." He said it showed a man could start from scratch and win without the backing of any special interest group or big organization.

Named to State Turnpike Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller Monday appointed Walter L. Heard of Newport to the state Turnpike Authority. He succeeds George Cracraft of Helena, who resigned recently.

Heard, who will represent the 1st Congressional District on the authority, is scheduled to serve until Jan. 14, 1975. He is president of the Highway 67 Improvement Association which advocates making U.S. 67 into a four-lane highway.

and the cities generally as campaign factors. No date has been set as yet for the meeting.

At a news conference earlier in the day, Lindsay answered 40 questions on Republican politics without once praising or criticizing the Nixon-Agnew ticket. He said that in his support for the ticket he will "emphasize support for young, bright progressives in the Republican party."

Lindsay said he had not set plans to campaign for Nixon and Spiro T. Agnew but "will do what I can in the time limits set by running the city of New York. My first job is to be mayor."

Nixon confers today with Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, a key Rockefeller booster during the campaign for the Republican nomination.

He also sees an array of state party leaders—some more attuned to other candidates during the race for nomination—at his resort headquarters on Mission Bay.

Ellsworth said the drive for unity embraces more conservative Republicans, as well as the party liberals who wanted Rockefeller to be the nominee.

Underscoring this, the Nixon organization announced the nominee is arranging to meet Friday with California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"We would like all Republicans to campaign for us to the extent that they can," Ellsworth said.

During the next two weeks, he said, Nixon would be contacting Republicans of all opinions, working to build a broad campaign.

Nixon already has talked by telephone with Govs. George Romney of Michigan and Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania. He is to visit them at their capitals, Lansing and Harrisburg, next week. The timing of those trips has not yet been announced.

Nixon also talked by telephone with Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, a Rockefeller supporter prior to the GOP convention. Ellsworth said Percy will play a major role in the national campaign, speaking, traveling and representing the ticket.

State party leaders from Texas, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and New York were on hand for conferences with the candidate.

Guardsmen Continue L.R. Patrol

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Teams of National Guardsmen and policemen continued to patrol the streets here this morning even though the city spent a trouble-free night.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller had lifted the curfew because of Tuesday's Democratic primary election and due to a relatively calm Monday night.

Little Rock police said "there hasn't been a thing" since Monday night when one incident of violence was reported and 10 persons were arrested for curfew violations.

The governor said local authorities believed "we are rapidly returning to normal conditions" after four straight nights of racial disturbances that began Friday.

The Pulaski County Economic Opportunity Agency had asked Monday for the withdrawal of guardsmen, State Police and "beefed-up police patrols" from the areas hardest hit by violence.

William Walker, executive director of the EOA, said the heavy concentration of police and the sight of helmeted guardsmen was "a provoking thing."

Liquor stores opened in the city this morning for the first time since 6 p.m. Monday.

Meanwhile, U. S. District Judge J. Smith Henley refused Tuesday at a hearing in Harrison to grant a temporary injunction to keep the Pulaski County Grand Jury from investigating the outbreak of violence, which was touched off Friday night following a memorial service for a young Negro who was beaten to death Aug. 2 at the county penal farm.

Henley said, however, that serious constitutional questions were raised by the complaint filed Monday by 13 Negroes. They alleged that the method of selecting jurors for a long period of time "systematically excluded" Negroes, young people and a cross section of economic groups.

The judge said the composition of the jury might seriously endanger the validity of any indictments it might return. He noted that there was only one Negro on the 16-member panel and that there had never been more than one.

The jury went into session Monday, but recessed after two hours without scheduling another meeting. A committee of the jury was instructed to look into the operations of the Pulaski County Penal Farm.

The Rev. Thomas McVeigh Smith, a Roman Catholic priest who had asked for an investigation into Ingram's death, has blamed "segregated, unsanitary and brutal" conditions at the farm for the racial disorders in the city.

Catcher Finished for Season

BALTIMORE (AP) — Catcher Andy Etchebarren of the Baltimore Orioles, facing a bald operation Friday, is apparently finished for the 1968 baseball season.

The operation was prescribed Tuesday night after Etchebarren returned to Baltimore from the West Coast and underwent additional X-rays.

Correction
Conspiracy
Nostalgia

In yesterday's comment of the bull-fight postcard Royce Weisenberger sent L. Carter Johnson and me from Juarez, Mexico, I referred to "Circuit Judge Weisenberger" — which would indicate editors are as confused as the United States Supreme Court.

Of course I know Royce is chancery judge and W. H. Arnold of Texarkana circuit judge — and I caught the error myself, but only after the press was plated up and rolling. Broadcasters make oral slips, but correcting the printed word is more difficult — replacing the press would have delayed delivery one hour, playing havoc with 30 newsboys and dealers.

I used too many words writing in haste. When in a hurry just say "Judge" — and you'll always be right.

Detroit's two big daily papers resumed publication last week-end after a strike that lasted nine months. If New York's experience holds true in Detroit the papers will never fully recover their business. Workers have gained a few more dollars weekly, but at the cost of many jobs. Repeated strikes in New York helped reduce New York's papers from 20 to 3 and put an estimated 15,000 off the payroll.

One of the conspiracies uncovered in the Detroit strike was this: After publication was resumed the Detroit News fired seven circulation district managers, members of Teamster Union Local No. 372, because they conspired during the strike to set up a competing daily against their own house.

A postcard on my desk spells nostalgia. Mailed from Birmingham, N.Y., it reads:

"The descendants of Nehemiah and Mary Lindsey (my father's mother's maiden name) are holding their 65th annual reunion at the Grange Hall in Lawsville, Pa., on Aug. 25, 1968. Please bring covered dish and rolls."

There are immediate family reunions that everyone knows about, and then again there are major reunions covering hundreds of people through fifth and sixth cousins. Frankly, major reunions leave something to be desired.

When we were youngsters our family attended such a one at Birmingham, with more than 200 present. The trouble with kin-folk beyond first cousins is that you can't distinguish between friends and enemies. The individual resents a situation in which it appears the whole world is claiming relationship.

Am I full of ingratitude? Not at all. I'm simply telling it like it is.

Weapons, Arms Seized by Allies

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces trying to spoil the third Viet Cong offensive of the year before it can get started uncovered huge weapons caches along infiltration corridors north of Saigon and leading from the Cambodian and Laotian borders, military spokesmen reported today.

Little other activity was reported in the Vietnam war. The U.S. Command said tropical storm Rose cut U.S. air missions over North Vietnam's southern panhandle to 31 Tuesday, the lowest number in more than two years.

In the most significant find, allied forces checking a group of villages reportedly housing as many as 25,000 Viet Cong sympathizers 25 miles north of Saigon turned up more than 500 rounds of rockets and recoilless rifle ammunition Tuesday, 72,000 rounds for automatic weapons and five pounds of documents.

Ten Vietnamese trying to escape were killed in a 15-minute fire fight, and 17 prisoners were flushed from the tunnels in the action Tuesday. No allied casualties were reported.

Using "seal and search" tactics units of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment put a cordon around the village of Cau Dat with armored personnel carriers and tanks. South Vietnamese and American "tunnel rats"—infantrymen who dig through tunnels—moved in to search the village.

Cau Dat is less than 10 miles north of a U.S. Army helicopter base and the headquarters of the South Vietnamese 5th Infantry Division.

It was the second productive "seal and search" operation in the cluster of villages north of Saigon in the last five days.

A regional fire school is now underway at the local Fire Station and will continue through August 22. Fire Chief James Cobb announced today. Instructor for the first week is Elmo Anderson.

Topics in all classes take up various phases and methods of firefighting, equipment, water supply use, protection etc.

Some 50 persons are attending the class here.

Police Offer Sketch of Killer of 3

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Police have distributed a second artist's sketch of a man who telephoned them to say he had killed three persons and pleaded: "Please catch me."

The sketch, in color, was based on the description furnished by a gas station attendant and others who told police they thought they had seen the man described as 18 to 20 years old, about 5-feet-11 and 160 pounds with long blond hair combed straight back.

Police searched today for a third victim. The telephone caller directed police Monday to the nearly nude body of 11-year-old Marilyn Clark and her gravely wounded mother, Mrs. Dorothy A. Clark, 42, of Clarkston, Ga.

Mrs. Clark remained in "very critical" condition in a hospital and has been unable to give a description of her assailant. She was found slumped over the wheel of an automobile and her daughter's body was discovered on a roadside four miles away. The caller said another body was "in the water."

Annexation Is Approved

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Bentonville voters Tuesday approved the annexation of about 800 acres to the city.

Nixon Wants to Line Up All Factions

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon strove today to align all Republican factions and philosophies solidly behind his race for the White House.

He arranged a series of meetings with top supporters of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a political adversary turned campaign ally, and scheduled a conference with his defeated rival on Aug. 21.

A parallel session also is due with New York Mayor John V. Lindsay.

In a pair of telephone calls to the New York GOP leaders, Nixon won pledges of support in the White House race ahead, an aide said.

"Both Rockefeller and Lindsay have agreed to support the ticket enthusiastically, and their roles will be the subject of detailed discussions in New York next week," said Robert Ellsworth, Nixon's national political director.

Ellsworth said Tuesday's telephone call to Rockefeller was a lengthy one, and they agreed to meet next week at Nixon's Fifth Avenue apartment to discuss how the GOP can carry New York in the Nov. 5 election and what personal role Rockefeller will play in the White House campaign.

"Gov. Rockefeller couldn't have been more pleasant," Ellsworth said.

In New York, a spokesman for Lindsay said that in the telephone call to the mayor Nixon asked, "If they could get together to discuss urban problems

Alexander Wins Race for Congress

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bill Alexander, a young lawyer from Osceola, won perhaps the biggest case of his life Tuesday as voters in the 1st Congressional District gave him an overwhelming verdict to take the district's Democratic congressional nomination.

Alexander, who failed to receive any endorsements from the six defeated candidates in the July 30 preferential primary, easily outdistanced his runoff opponent, Jack Files of the Hunter community near Brinkley.

"Right now, I'm riding high," Alexander said late Tuesday night after it was apparent he had won.

With 508 of 510 precincts reported, Alexander had 43,292 votes to 26,340 for Files.

Alexander, who left a job with a federal judge at Mem-

Humphrey Short for 1st Ballot

WASHINGTON (AP) — A caucus of the big Ohio delegation has propelled Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's solid first ballot strength at the upcoming Democratic national convention past 800 in The Associated Press survey of delegates.

But he is still nearly 500 votes away from the 1,312 needed for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The 80 votes cast by Ohio delegates for Humphrey at Monday night's caucus were offset somewhat by small losses in Utah, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Wyoming, but the vice president continues to hold a considerable lead over Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Humphrey's total in the AP poll, which is based on primary results, pledges, and the results of caucuses and AP delegate checks, stands at 824½ — up about 50 in the past 10 days.

McCarthy stands second with 436½. Only delegates who say they will vote for a candidate are counted, not those leaning to one.

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, who announced his active candidacy for president last Saturday, has 28 votes — 26 from his home state and two from Nebraska.

But incomplete response to AP checks with both committed and uncommitted delegates in all states showed potential McGovern strength in California.

Scattered Showers for Arkansas

Widely scattered showers and thundershowers are expected to continue over Arkansas through Thursday, as two pressure systems control the state's weather.

A low pressure system in southeast Missouri is causing condensation of Gulf moisture pushed into the state high a high pressure system in the Atlantic.

Torrential downpours hit portions of south Arkansas Tuesday with 4.28 inches of rain falling in El Dorado alone.

Precipitation was also reported at Fayetteville with 4.1 inches, Fort Smith with .53 and Texarkana .56.

Heavy Damage in Main St. Wreck

On South Main about noon today cars driven by Allen C. Smith of Fla. and Mrs. J. L. Beckham of Hope Rt. 1, collided with heavy damage resulting to both vehicles. City officers said nobody was injured.

Officers Long and Willis said Mrs. Beckham turned left to go into Branch hospital and went into the path of the Smith vehicle. They charged Mrs. Beckham with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Democratic Nomination for Governor Won by Crank by Big Margin

Wells Beats Coffelt for Lt. Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bill Wells, 37, a state representative from Hermilite, swamped Kenneth Coffelt for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor in Tuesday's primary election runoff.

"We based our campaign on our record and ran against no man," Wells said, claiming victory in a prepared statement Tuesday night. "We ran for the office."

Wells promptly issued a challenge to Lt. Gov. Maurice "Footsie" Britt, a Republican, to debate him during the general election campaign.

"If television time is available, I think it is appropriate that we debate on television so that as many persons as possible can hear us discuss the issues," Wells said.

Wells had about 75 per cent of the vote. With 2,597 of 2,603 precincts reported, his vote total was 250,026 to 83,669 for Coffelt, a Jacksonville resident who practices law in Little Rock.

It was Coffelt's third straight defeat in a bid for state office. He ran unsuccessfully for the gubernatorial nomination in 1962 and ran third in a three-man race for the attorney general nomination in 1966.

Coffelt, 60, served two terms in the Arkansas House, representing Faulkner County in 1931 and Saline County in 1937.

Wells is serving his fourth term in the House. He also has been mayor of Hermilite. He operates an independent insurance agency and helps his wife operate a restaurant.

In his first bid for statewide office, Wells led the ticket in the preferential primary July 30. He had 150,720 votes to 77,373 for Coffelt. Others in the race then were Julian James of Jonesboro with 68,741, Bill Herndon of North Little Rock with 49,765 and Gilbert Leigh of Little Rock with 35,037.

Five legislative contests and one race for prosecutor also were decided in the primary runoff, with two candidates winning outright positions in the Arkansas House.

Wayne N. Courtney of Forrest City defeated Bob Nimocks of Forrest City 3,103-2,396 for Pos. 2 in District 27, which is St. Francis County. No Republican ran for the post.

In District 33, which is Jefferson and Grant counties, Boyce Alford of Pine Bluff had 9,819 votes to 6,487 for Odell Clark in the race for Pos. 2. Alford's victory gives him the House seat since he has no GOP opposition.
